BERL BERNHARD CHAIRMAN AND CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Berl Bernhard has "the perfect resume," according to a recent article in The Washington Post.

Considering his many successes in academics, athletics, politics, law and life, the multi-faceted Bernhard has proven to be a man who can get the job done.

Bernhard's football experience is somewhat limited. While an all-state basketball player in high school, and honorable mention all-state offensive end, his "gridiron career" was halted in 1947, when the young freshman halfback at Dartmouth College tore a cartilage in his knee. But Bernhard is quick to admit that his first love in sports, anyway, is sailing.

An avid yachtsman for the past quarter century, Bernhard, 53, has become one of the more successful skippers in the country. The highlight of his yacht-racing career came in 1981, when he captained his yacht, "Invictus," to a first place finish both in class and overall performance, in the annual Annapolis to Newport open sea race.

Yet it is away from the sports scene where Bernhard has received far more national acclaim.

It began at Dartmouth where he served as student body president and led the successful fight against racial discrimination in fraternities on campus. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in his junior year, and graduated Magna Cum Laude, with highest distinction in government in 1951. From there he went to law school at Yale, where he served as a graduate instructor in the undergraduate political science department, before receiving his J.D. degree in 1954.

After working as a law clerk for Judge Luther W. Youngdahl in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, he quickly became the federal government's newest "whiz kid."

In 1960, the Washington, D.C. Junior Chamber of Commerce awarded him the Arthur S. Fleming Award as one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Men in Federal Government." That same year, the 30-year old Bernhard was named Deputy Director of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, and opened his own law firm.

In 1961, President John F. Kennedy nominated him, and with the advice and consent of the Senate, he became Director of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, a position he held until November 1963.

In 1962, he was honored as one of the "Ten Outstanding Young Men in the United States" by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. Also in 1963, he became an Adjunct Professor of Law at the Georgetown University Law Center.

In 1963, he went to East Africa as Special United States Representative to the anticipated East African Federation and in 1964 he served as consultant to the office of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and special consultant to undersecretary W. Averell Harriman. He remained in that capacity for four years.

Even after he left the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, Bernhard continued to fight for racial and educational equality. In 1966, President Lyndon Johnson appointed him Special Counsel and Director of the White House Conference "To Fulfill These Rights." From 1966-68, he was active on the local level, as a member of the Board of Higher Education for the District of Columbia.

Bernhard's law firm, which he co-founded in 1960, has grown to almost seventy lawyers attracting such clients as the Washington Star newspaper, Pan American World Airways, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Hughes Communications, National Steel Corporation, the Travelers Insurance Companies, the Kennedy Center, the First American Bank and others.

Meanwhile, his involvement in the national political scene further expanded. From 1965 until 1971, he served as both the General Counsel for the Democractic Senatorial Campaign Committee and as the Special Counsel for the Democractic National Committee.

One prominent Democrat, Edmund Muskie, especially valued Bernhard's input in his political fortunes. In 1968, Bernhard was Muskie's speech writer, and in 1972, he assumed the responsibility of running Muskie's campaign for the Democractic presidential nomination. In 1980, after President Jimmy Carter appointed Muskie Secretary of State, Bernhard returned to the State Department, and to Muskie, as Senior Advisor to the Secretary of State, a position he held for one year.

Bernhard still is quite active in education and politics. At present he serves on the Board of Trustees at his alma mater, Dartmouth College. In the political arena, he is on the board of "Democrats for the 80's," a political action committee started by the Honorable and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman. He also is Chairman and Senior Partner of his law firm: Verner, Liipfert, Bernhard and McPherson.

A considerable amount of Bernhard's work has been published in legal journals, including articles in the George Washington Law Review, the North Carolina Law Review, the St. Louis Review, the Georgetown Law Journal and Law and Contemporary Problems (Duke University Law School). He is certified to practice law both in the District of Columbia and before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Bernhard was born in New York, NY, and now lives in Bethesda, Maryland.

JAMES M. GOULD
PRESIDENT AND CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER

As President and Chief Operating Officer of the Washington Federals, James M. Gould is among professional sports' youngest, most dynamic executives.

The 33 year—old Gould is one of the founding members of the United States Football League and has been instrumental in the growth of the franchises in Washington and Birmingham.

A native of Cincinnati, Ohio, Gould is currently Chairman of the USFL's management committee, Vice Chairman of the league's budget committee and a member of Commissioner Chet Simmons' Executive Committee. Gould is also past president of the USFL Stadium and Public Relations Committees.

His involvement in the USFL began in 1981 when Gould, who was serving as Vice President of Corporate Development for the Warner National Corporation in Cincinnati, was offered the position of President and General Manager of the USFL's Birmingham Stallions, owned by Ambassador Marvin L. Warner. A former co-owner of the New York Yankees, Warner was also a part owner of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Gould accepted Warner's offer and immediately began building the franchise. Shortly thereafter, however, Gould saw the opportunity to come to Washington, D.C., which had been his original choice, and in August, he came to work for owner Berl Bernhard and the Federals.

In his current position, Gould is responsible for the entire business operation of the organization including finance, marketing, and public relations. He also works very closely with the USFL office on matters of importance. Since his arrival in Washington, Gould has quickly added to his reputation as an innovative builder.

Gould graduated with honors from the University of Wisconsin in 1970. He majored in history and minored in education/mass communications.

He later became Director of Marketing and Development of Special Projects of Towne Properties, Inc., a residential and commercial development company in Cincinnati. In 1975, at the request of 12 banks and savings and loans in northern Kentucky, Gould took a nine month leave of absence from Towne Properties to supervise the regional marketing and development of C.U.R.E.

Following that assignment, Gould took on the task of revitalizing a $21 million art deco monument—the Cincinnati Union Terminal Development.

Three years later, he left to join the Warner National Corporation. In 1981, Gould was named as one of the "Outstanding Young Men in America" by the Cincinnati Jaycees. He currently serves as President of the Washington Federals Foundation, a non-profit organization aimed at counselling youth groups throughout the metropolitan area.

Gould is single and resides in Washington, D.C.

DICK MYERS — GENERAL MANAGER AND EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

At the press conference introducing Dick Myers as General Manager and Executive Vice President of the Washington Federals, Chairman Berl Bernhard remarked, "We searched all over the country, but returned home to find the right man."

Possessing a wide scope of sports administration experience, the 36 year-old Myers comes to the Federals following nine years service with the Washington Redskins, the last four as assistant general manager under Bobby Beathard. Myers, a native of Afton, Iowa, also spent two years as a player personnel assistant with the National Football League before joining the Redskins and George Allen in 1973.

Myers, who also holds a Masters Degree from Ohio University's Sports Administration program, is fulfilling a life-long ambition in his role with the Federals. "I love what I'm doing. I knew at a very young age that I wanted to be involved in sports all my life," says Myers. "My whole career has been a dream life for me, and building a pro franchise is particularly exciting."

Myers began his experience in the field as an undergraduate at Cornell College in Iowa. A 1968 Cornell College graduate, Myers spent three years as the school's sports information director and still found time to earn three varsity baseball letters.

Upon graduating from Cornell College, Myers entered Florida State University's School of Law hoping to pursue that angle into the sports administration field. Just as he completed his first semester at Florida State, however, Myers found he had been accepted to Ohio University's graduate program.

While at Ohio U. in 1970, he served an internship with the Cleveland Browns and was also a graduate assistant in the O.U. sports information department. Myers received his degree in sports administration from O.U. in March, 1971 and promptly went to work on the sports desk of United Press International in New York.

It was after a brief stay with UPI, that Myers accepted a position as Player Personnel Coordinator with the NFL League office in New York. He was responsible for handling waivers, player contracts, trades and the college draft. While in this position, Myers experienced nearly all facets of pro football management.

He was with the NFL for nearly two years when Head Coach George Allen asked him to join the Redskins as an administrative assistant in 1973. Myers worked closely with Allen on all administrative affairs and handled matters with the league office regarding player personnel. He was also responsible for player contract negotiations and served as a liaison between the club, the management council, and the NFL Players Association.

When Allen was replaced following the 1977 season, Myers was appointed Assistant General Manager under Beathard. Myers soon broadened his responsibilities to include the business side along with the daily football operations. He coordinated the Redskins training camp and in September, 1981, Myers added the role of Business Manager, a position he held until joining the Federals last July.

In addition, Myers is on the Ohio University Sports Administration program's permanent advisory board. He also serves on the board of trustees of the Washington Federals Foundation, a non-profit organization which counsels youth groups throughout the community.

Myers and his wife, Dolores, reside in Herndon, Virginia. They have a daughter, Julie, currently in the fourth grade.

RAY JAUCH — HEAD COACH AND VICE PRESIDENT

Building a team from the ground floor up is nothing new to Washington Federals' Head Coach Ray Jauch (pronounced YOCK).

As the fourth winningest coach in Canadian Football League history, Jauch, 44, successfully restructured two teams during his 12 seasons in the CFL before coming to the United States Football League.

Implementing a philosophy of long range planning based on his penchant for developing young players, Jauch took the CFL's Edmonton Eskimos from their status as the league's poorest in 1970, to a team so powerful, it has missed only one Grey Cup (CFL Championship) since 1973.

In 1978, the Mendota, Illinois native assumed the head coaching post at Winnipeg and conducted a major roster shake up, again instituting his own system. After a 4-12 season in 1979, Jauch guided the Blue Bombers to 32 wins in 48 games thereafter, including an 11-5 mark in 1982. Only a 24-21 loss to Edmonton on November 21 in the CFL's Western Division title game, Jauch's last in Canada, prevented Winnipeg from reaching the Grey Cup.

A United States citizen, Jauch nonetheless has lived 19 of the past 21 years in Canada. His football career began at Mendota High School in Illinois where he starred in the backfield with former Minnesota Viking Bill Brown. He went on to attend the University of Iowa and played halfback under Hawkeye coach Forrest Evashevski. In 1959, Jauch's junior year, Iowa advanced to the Rose Bowl and defeated the University of California with heralded Joe Kapp as quarterback.

It was while at Iowa that Jauch first attracted the attention of Federals' General Manager Dick Myers. At the time, Myers was a youngster living in Iowa and, naturally, rooting for the Hawkeyes with Jauch in their backfield.

Jauch graduated from Iowa in 1960 with a B.S. degree in Physical Education. Though drafted by the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League, Jauch opted to play in the CFL and signed with Winnipeg. Nicknamed "Toy Bulldog" by the CFL fans because of his size, Jauch played two seasons at Winnipeg under Head Coach Bud Grant, now with the Minnesota Vikings. Jauch's playing career ended prematurely, when he tore an achilles tendon during the 1961 Grey Cup game.

One year later, Jauch began his coaching career with the St. James Rods, a club football team in Canada. In 1964, he returned to Iowa as an assistant under Head Coach Jerry Burns. Two years later, Jauch went back to Canada as an assistant to Neill Armstrong, head coach of Edmonton. In 1970, when Armstrong went to the Chicago Bears, Jauch was offered and accepted, the head coaching post with the Eskimos.

In his first year with Edmonton, Jauch, inheriting a team that had been 5-11, led the Eskimos to a 9-7 record. For his efforts, Jauch was named CFL's Coach of the Year. All told, he steered Edmonton to the playoffs six times in seven seasons. Edmonton advanced to the Grey Cup three times under Jauch, winning the CFL championship in 1975.

Jauch, who had taken an active leadership approach in all areas of player personnel development in addition to his on the field duties, stepped down as head coach in 1977 to become Edmonton's Director of Football Operations.

In 1978, Jauch returned to the sidelines as head coach at Winnipeg. The Blue Bombers advanced to the playoffs four of five seasons under Jauch. His 1980 squad posted a 10-6 record, and again Jauch was named the league's top coach. In 1981, Winnipeg was 11-5, the club's best record since 1965, and set a team scoring record with 517 points.

In 12 seasons in the CFL, Jauch compiled a 117-85-4 (.571) record, while suffering just two losing seasons.

An avid hunting and fishing enthusiast, Jauch and his wife, Sarah, have four sons, Jeff, John, Jim and Joey. The Jauch's reside in Vienna, Virginia.

MIKE FAULKINER — DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

One of Dick Myers' first acts as general manager of the Washington Federals was to name Mike Faulkiner Director of Player Personnel, bringing about a reunion for the two former Washington Redskins' aides.

Myers and Faulkiner first worked together under ex-Redskins' head coach George Allen from 1974 to 1978. Under Allen, Faulkiner first served as a personnel scout and subsequently as assistant receivers coach.

Although only 35 years-old, Faulkiner has been involved in coaching, scouting and player personnel work for 13 years.

"It was very important for me to hire someone I could trust to take full responsibility for running the scouting operation and to prepare for, and have major input in our draft selections," said Myers. "Mike is one of the most knowledgeable young personnel men in football and he has great experience in both the National Football League and Canadian Football League."

Since his last association with Myers in 1978, Faulkiner has made several career moves. In 1979, the Cameron, West Virginia native became the passing game coordinator as well as quarterbacks and receivers coach for the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL. One year later, he served as special assignments coach for the New York Giants under Ray Perkins. Faulkiner finished that season and quickly assumed the head coaching post of the Carolina Chargers, a semi-pro team in Charlotte, North Carolina, in time for their 1981 summer season.

Again on the move, Faulkiner went to Eastern Illinois in the fall of 1981 as the Panthers' offensive coordinator. In the spring of 1982, George Allen again summoned Faulkiner, who became wide receivers coach and player personnel director for Allen's Montreal Allouettes in the CFL. The stop in Montreal was a brief one, however, as Allen ventured to the USFL and, when Myers contacted him, Faulkiner did the same after five months in Montreal.

Faulkiner was an all-around athlete at Cameron High School (WV), then matriculated to West Virginia Tech where he played four varsity seasons at both quarterback and safety. He also lettered in baseball at West Virginia Tech and earned a B.S. degree in Physical Education and Social Studies in 1970.

LEO McKILLIP — DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

Leo McKillip joins the Federals as defensive coordinator, making this the tenth season he has worked with Head Coach Ray Jauch. McKillip served as defensive coordinator under Jauch with the Canadian Football League's Edmonton Eskimos from 1974 to 1978. The 54 year-old McKillip then joined Jauch at Winnipeg in 1978 where he served as defensive coach of the Blue Bombers for the past five seasons.

He began his coaching career in Kimball, Nebraska in 1954 at the high school level. A year later he joined the Idaho State University staff and served as an assistant coach for eleven years. In 1965, McKillip took over as Head Coach at Idaho State and in 1970 moved to St. Mary's College as head coach. From St. Mary's, he joined Jauch and the Edmonton staff in 1974.

As a player, McKillip attended Notre Dame and played on the 1949 National Championship team under Notre Dame coach Frank Leahy. Born in Denver, Colorado, McKillip was raised in Nebraska. After graduating from Notre Dame, he served a two-year stint in the U.S. Air Force. McKillip earned his Masters Degree from Nebraska in 1955 and his Doctorate in Physical Education from the University of Utah in 1972.

McKillip and his wife, Patsy, have two sons, Blaine and Creighton.

DICK BIELSKI — OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR

After 18 years as a coach in the NFL, Dick Bielski has joined the Washington Federals' coaching staff as offensive coordinator.

Bielski, 50, began his professional coaching career in 1964 as receivers coach for Don Shula and the Baltimore Colts. After nine seasons, he accepted a position as an offensive aide for the Washington Redskins under George Allen. In 1977, Bielski rejoined the Baltimore staff and remained through the 1981 season as the pass offense coach for Mike McCormack.

A star fullback and place kicker for the University of Maryland, Bielski was drafted in the first round of the 1955 college draft by the Philadelphia Eagles. He played for the Eagles five years as a tight end before he was traded to the Dallas Cowboys where he started for two years. In 1961, he was again traded to the Baltimore Colts where he ended his professional career after two years.

Bielski caught 107 passes for 1,205 yards and 12 touchdowns, while kicking 58 extra points and 25 field goals as a pro.

He and his wife, Jo, reside in Towson, Maryland.

BRUCE BEATTY—OFFENSIVE LINE COACH, SPECIAL TEAMS

With over 30 years of collegiate and professional coaching experience, Bruce Beatty joins the Washington Federals' staff as the offensive line coach.

A graduate of Miami University of Ohio, Beatty began his coaching career in 1951 at his alma mater, best known as the "Cradle of Coaches". After five years with head coach Ara Parseghian, Beatty accepted the position of offensive line and special teams' coach at Northwestern.

In 1969, Beatty began his professional coaching career with Clive Rush at New England. After three years, he joined Bill Peterson as defensive line coach with the Houston Oilers.

Following the 1974 season, Beatty accepted the position as offensive line coach with Rick Forzano and the Detroit Lions. A year later, he moved on to coach the special teams at Buffalo.

Returning to collegiate athletics in 1980, Beatty joined Ed Cavanaugh at Army. He remained there through the 1982 season until joining the Federals' staff.

Beatty and his wife, Evelyn, reside in Fairfax, Virginia.

GENE STAUBER—DEFENSIVE LINE COACH

Gene Stauber comes to the Federals from the Canadian Football League where he served as defensive line coach for five seasons under Ray Jauch. Stauber had previous coaching in the professional ranks as the defensive backfield coach of the CFL's Calgary Stampeders in 1976.

A native of Indianapolis, Indiana, Stauber has a total of 35 years coaching experience, 25 of those with major college programs.

He began coaching in 1947 at the University of Toledo, after having served in World War II in the 362nd Infantry Brigade, 91st Division in Africa and Italy. Even in war time he had time for football as he played in the "Spaghetti Bowl" game between the 5th Army and the 12th Air Force in Florence, Italy in 1945.

After returning, Stauber graduated from Toledo in 1947 with a degree in Education. He received a Masters degree in Science from the University of Michigan in 1951.

He went on to assistant coaching posts at Michigan, Delaware, Idaho, Nebraska, California, Illinois and Indiana State. During that span, Stauber, with Illinois and California, appeared in the Rose Bowl in 1959 and 1964.

Stauber and his wife, Eileen, have two children. They currently reside in Alexandria, Virginia.

TED VACTOR—SPECIAL TEAMS, DEFENSIVE BACKFIELD COACH

Former Washington Redskin Ted Vactor will serve as Special Teams Coach for the Washington Federals. Vactor, 38, spent the past five seasons as head coach at the University of the District of Columbia. He played with the Redskins from 1969 through 1974 as a defensive stand dout and a leader of the special teams.

In 1971, Vactor teamed with Speedy Duncan to give the Redskins the number one punt return ranking in the National Football League. Vactor returned 22 punts that season for an 8.3 yard average, third best in the NFC that season.

Vactor played in three bowl games during his collegiate career at Nebraska. He was named first team All-Big Eight in 1965 as a junior.

Vactor and his wife, Stacey, reside in Wheaton, Maryland, with their three children. He is a native of Washington, Pennsylvania.

KARL DAVEY — EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Karl Davey, a life long area resident, serves as the Equipment Manager of the Washington Federals.

Davey, 46, has been involved in the sporting goods business for over 30 years. He is a 1954 graduate of Washington and Lee High School in Arlington, Virginia, where he started two years at guard for the Generals.

He went on to play tackle at Shepherd College—and majored in History and Physical Education. He started two seasons at Shepherd and played on the Rams undefeated team in 1957.

He is the past president of both the Arlington Better Sports Club and the Arlington Bearcat Youth Foundation.

Davey and his wife, Joyce Ann, reside in Fairfax, Virginia. They have two sons, Jeff and Glenn.

FRANK RICE — HEAD TRAINER

Frank Rice comes to the Federals as Head Trainer after serving as assistant trainer at the University of Miami (Fla.) for the past three years. Rice, 27, earned his B.S. degree in Biology from Syracuse in 1977 and his M.S. degree in Health, Physical Education and Recreation from Oklahoma State in 1979.

Rice has training camp experience with both the NFL's Baltimore Colts and Washington Redskins. He worked as an assistant in four training camps with the Colts (1975-78) and the 1980 pre-season with the Redskins.

Rice was born in Clearfield, Pennsylvania and raised in Marietta, Ohio.

TERRY METCALF DIRECTOR OF THE WASHINGTON FEDERALS FOUNDATION AND DIRECTOR OF PLAYER RELATIONS

It might seem difficult to imagine Terry Metcalf in a more natural role than the one he played as a premier running back in the National Football League.

Yet as Director of the Washington Federals Foundation, a nonprofit organization aimed at counselling youth groups and assisting charities, Metcalf is as much at ease as he was dashing through an opponent's defensive secondary...maybe even more so.

"Working with young people is something I've always enjoyed and I'm excited about getting the opportunity to do so on a full-time basis," said Metcalf at the press conference announcing his appointment on October 20. "It's said that sometimes pro athletes do a lot of taking, this is my way of giving something back."

Metcalf, who spent five seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, one with the Washington Redskins and three years with Toronto in the Canadian Football League, also serves as the Federals' Director of Player Relations.

As Director of the Foundation, Metcalf interacts with youngsters, stressing the need to equally balance education and athletics.

Metcalf has long been involved in community related programs. While in St. Louis, Metcalf was Chairman of the Multiple Sclerosis Society and implemented a high school speakers program much like the one he has established with the Washington Federals Foundation.

While in Toronto, Metcalf worked with The United Way and Athletes in Action. Last year, while with the Redskins, his community involvements included the United Negro College Fund and the D.C. School's Parent to Parent program.

In his role as the Federals' Director of Player Relations, Metcalf will be involved in the Federal players' career and off-season employment opportunities as well as other forms of counselling.

One of the most versatile players in NFL history, Metcalf's pro career began as a third round 1973 draft choice of St. Louis. He established an NFL record for most combined yards gained in a season with 2,462 in 1975. In his six seasons in the NFL, he netted 10,001 total yards, making him only the 22nd man in history to reach that plateau.

FIRST USFL COLLEGE DRAFT
(January 4-5, 1983)

The USFL college draft consists of two phases - the territorial draft and the open draft. The first phase, the territorial segment, involves each USFL team "protecting" 26 players from its five territorial schools. The Federals' territorial schools are Maryland, Clemson, South Carolina, Richmond and Virginia. Players protected in the territorial draft are not eligible to be selected in the open draft. The open draft was conducted in an order determined by lottery. The Federals selected fourth in the first round and ninth in the second. During the remainder of the open draft, the Federals picked fourth in the odd numbered records and ninth in the even rounds.

CHRONOLOGICAL HISTORY OF THE FEDERALS AND USFL

1982

May 11 — Formation of the United States Football League is announced at a New York City press conference. Franchise areas include Arizona, Birmingham, Boston, Chicago, Denver, Detroit (Michigan), Los Angeles, New Jersey, Oakland, Philadelphia, Tampa Bay and Washington.

May 26 — The USFL and ABC Sports enter into a two-year network television agreement. ABC will televise a Sunday afternoon game-of-the-week, one prime time evening game, plus coverage of the USFL divisional playoffs and championship game. Total package calls for 21 telecasts of USFL action.

June 2 — Chuck Fairbanks, former Oklahoma, New England Patriots and Colorado head coach, named as president and head coach of the New Jersey Generals. Fairbanks becomes first head coach named in USFL. Jim Valek named vice president and general manager. Team is owned by J. Walter Duncan.

June 14 — Chester R. Simmons named Commissioner of USFL at a press conference in Los Angeles. Simmons served as president and chief executive officer of ESPN (Entertainment and Sports Programming Network) and prior to that was president of NBC Sports.

June 16 — Robert "Red" Miller named head coach of the Denver franchise, which announces it will be known as the Gold. Miller was head coach of the Denver Broncos from 1977—80. Primary owner is Ron Blanding, president of a Denver real estate development and construction firm.

June 17 — USFL and ESPN enter into a two-year national cable television agreement. ESPN will televise two prime-time games each week of the USFL season.

June 21 George Allen, former head coach of Los Angeles Rams and Washington Redskins, named head coach of the Chicago franchise. Dr. Ted Diethrich, noted cardiovascular surgeon, and real estate developer William Harris will co-own franchise.

June 30 John Ralston named head coach and general manager of the Oakland Invaders. Ralston served as head coach at Stanford and with the Denver Broncos and came to the USFL from an administrative position with the San Francisco 49ers. Tad Taube is majority owner and general partner.

July 3 Canadian movie producer John Bassett, Miami attorney Stephen Arky and noted actor, director and former Florida State football player Burt Reynolds become co-owners of Tampa Bay Bandits franchise.

Carl Peterson, director of player personnel for the Philadelphia Eagles, is named president and general manager of the Philadelphia franchise by managing general partner Myles Tanenbaum.

CHET SIMMONS
USFL COMMISSIONER

The career experience and qualifications that Chet Simmons brings to his new position as Commissioner of the United States Football League could be referred to as "the state of the art."

Whereas other leaders of leagues in the various professional sports come from backgrounds in public relations, the law, or actual participation in the sport they administer, Simmons, in an era dominated by television, brings to the USFL a career in sports television that spans four decades.

His background also includes several ventures constructed from the ground up, experience that is immediately applicable to the task of launching the USFL's inaugural campaign.

Prior to accepting the challenge of guiding the USFL, Simmons was president and chief executive officer of the Entertainment and Sports Programming Network, Inc. (ESPN), where his ability to build, organize and manage an all-new entity was a prime factor in ESPN's current recognition as the most successful operation of its kind.

From 1977 to 1979, Simmons was president of NBC Sports, a network he had served as a major sports executive since 1964. During that period, his capacity for organizing new enterprises resulted in the network's strong coverage of baseball, basketball and many other sports, as well as professional football.

He was also a major contributor to the development of the successful Sports World and was highly instrumental in securing the 1980 Summer Olympic Games for the network.

Simmons began his television career in 1957 when he joined Sports Programs, Inc., which soon developed into the ABC-TV unit responsible for that network's sports programming.

The USFL thus becomes the second professional football league with which Simmons has been directly involved. While with ABC-TV, he was deeply responsible for the development of the television package when the American Football League made its debut.

He continued to work with the AFL when he moved to NBC and that association is recognized as having been extremely important to the AFL's survival through its early years and into its eventual merger with the National Football League.

Simmons was born in New York City and raised both in Ossining, N.Y. and Pawtucket, R.I. An alumnus of the University of Alabama, he did his graduate work in radio and television at Boston University. He and his wife, Harriet, have four children and live in Cos Cob, Connecticut.

WASHINGTON FEDERALS FOUNDATION

The Washington Federals Foundation was conceived on October 20, 1982. The function of the Foundation, under the direction of Terry Metcalf, is to counsel and assist youth groups and charities throughout the community. The Foundation stresses the need for young athletes to equally balance athletics and education. Pictured above at the press conference announcing the Foundation are (from left to right) Louis E. Martin, member of the Board of Trustees; Berl Bernhard, Chairman of the Federals and the Foundation; Terry Metcalf, Director of the Foundation; and F. Nordy Hoffman, member of the Board of Trustees.

WHY FEDERALS?

The team name "Federals" was chosen to represent the Washington, D.C. franchise in the United States Football League because it is easily identified with what the nation's capital is all about.

The team colors of green and black were taken from "Invictus", the yacht of Federals' Chairman Berl Bernhard.
